Medieval Restaurant in Roquetas de Mar

This very successful restaurant has been established for ten years. It is famous all over Spain for social events of every kind; you have to book weeks in advance and the restaurant takes a 20% deposit for every booking. The business has an on going advertising campaign on local television. The restaurant attracts every nationality and boasts an excellent reputation - clients return time and time again to experience the enjoyable atmosphere, entertainment and good quality food. Turnover figures are available to genuine interested parties - you wouldn't be disappointed. This business is available leasehold and freehold. The price for the freehold is 445,000 euros. The present owners are retiring after 30 years in the catering business, and hope to enjoy a well earned rest. This type of restaurant very rarely becomes available, so an early viewing is certainly worthwhile.
