Renewable energies

I'm looking for business angels or other investors to build up a series production and worldwide sales network of a novel and patent-protected latent-hybrid heat accumulator. Hitherto a small series has been produced and stood the test excellently.

I have already received further orders. A network for sales and marketing wants to sell e.g. 10000 of these new and innovative accumulators each year. The enormous market potential is auspicious.

The expected sales concern to the start-up in the first year.
