Electriccarsharing

In , German is the first pure-electric car-sharing companies emerge. For every man is easily accessible via self-service terminals and document readers. With 40 stations in and the new airport BBI in Schoenefeld. Advance will have 100 electric cars ready to start and should be expanded to 1,000 vehicles. An intellegent networked charging system also stands to charge users of its own electric vehicle and enables additional revenue. By taking advantage of the pure green fleet sails almost emission free. For long distances of "Chevrolet Volt" is (identical to the Opel Ampera only 15 TSD € cheaper) with a range up to 500 km round out the fleet. Our business model shows that even with ecological conservation concepts, can make good profits. In the short term, the entire German expansion into Germany is planned.
