Language courses

Exclusive language travel provider awards a stake of the German limited partnership. Also suitable as a tax saving variant. Both active and passive participation are conceivable. A software has been developed with the help of which older people or untalented people can learn a new language or improve existing language skills within a very short period of time. The system has been tested by renowned media and has become award-winning. As these are intensive courses with a teacher's presence, language trips are offered at home and abroad. It has been shown that high sales can be achieved. These are directly proportional to the advertising expenditure made, which is why a large proportion of the participation will go to advertising. It is also conceivable for partners who do not have their focal point in the supply location. They negotiate directly with the director. Non-binding enquiries will be requested to contact us, quoting your telephone number.
