Offer Corporate sales, firm sales, sales Electrical engineering company

The established and successful company with years of experience as well as a wide range of electrical installation and technology services is for sale due to a lack of succession. Currently, mainly repairs, renovations and conversions of existing objects are carried out. The share of regular customers, consisting of private and commercial customers, is above average. The property is particularly suitable for start-ups: The takeover of the company with its existing customer base and the good reputation that the company enjoys is much easier for the buyer than for a new founder. In addition, the possible expansion of the target clientele (e.g. new buildings) offers a good expansion opportunity. A well-founded familiarisation is assured.
