Data protection advice

"The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) continues to unsettle companies – giving consultants and lawyers a booming business. ..." Source: Handelsblatt, .

The owner-managed consulting company offered here for sale specialises in qualified data protection advice and the acquisition of external data protection mandates in the SME sector. The company philosophy includes long-term customer relationships that are characterized by personal, competent and cooperative contacts with clients.

Due to the internal processes and the well-rehearsed team, the handover to the buyer can take place at short notice. The team could also be very well connected to an existing buyer's company as an out-of-the-box on-site and/or portfolio location. The acquisition of employees is part of the company sale.
