Manufacturing

If you want to sell and hand over a company in the manufacturing sector as part of a trusting succession plan and this company is based in the south-eastern Bavarian region, then I could be your suitable candidate.

Briefly about myself: I am currently employed as a senior global product manager of a leading technology group in the consumer market (divisional sales of $230 million), but some time ago I started to become self-employed. My background is Dipl.-Ing. in process engineering and a degree as a cultural economist, I have many years of experience in the industries of environmental protection technology as well as functional textiles ("Consumer Products") including some trend-setting innovations, which I have successfully commercialized.
