Dry cleaning and laundry

For sale is a central cleaning company with a large branch network, as well as a large number of collection points. It currently employs around 50 people and generates an average turnover of between EUR 2 and 2.5 million.

There is a large circle of regular and new customers. This is made up of both private and commercial customers.

We are looking for a company successor with commercial and technical understanding. Preferably from the field of dry cleaning.

A potential successor is now being sought.

The handover process can be made flexible and the entrepreneur is available for a smooth transition for a period to be determined.

If you are interested, an existing sales expose can be sent after signing a confidentiality agreement, as well as a first exchange with the entrepreneur can take place.
