Look for Corporate participation, firm participation Specialist Publisher

Publishers and entrepreneurs are looking for active participation.

In my almost 30-year publishing career, I have gained extensive experience in the distribution, development and digitization of specialist information and am looking for an active participation in a publishing company.

The digitization of print offerings, the expansion of the portfolio with training and sponsorship offers and the consistent orientation of product development to the market are among my strengths. In addition, there is a long-standing sales background in the acquisition of subscriptions and licenses in the Direkt. and online marketing. I am looking for a commitment that can be approached as an active participation, management buy-in or consulting mandate.
