Look for Corporate follow-up, firm follow-up, follow-up Environmental Service

Succession management for established environmental company
Our environmental resources are important to us.

Specialist office with a focus on agriculture and groundwater protection, hydrogeology and soil protection with a high level of scientific expertise, a secure order situation and a long-standing customer base offers the opportunity for independence.

Resource conservation has been our challenge, motivation and vision for three decades. For reasons of age, we would like to pass on our established and successful company and enable us to join the management team. The company offers the opportunity to realize oneself professionally and to lead a motivated team.

The current two shareholder-managing directors offer the opportunity for extensive induction with a transitional period until the end of 2026.
