a sports & yoga apparel brand positioned as an early adopter in the rapidly growing sports fashion segment. As the market shifts from traditional gym equipment & weight training towards functional training, Hyrox, yoga movement & body movements, the brand is perfectly aligned with this evolution.

The brand, community, and positioning are already established, but what's missing is the manpower & infrastructure to fully capitalize on the growth potential. Therefore, I am looking for a strategic partner or investor to take the brand to the next level.

Highlights:

Trendsetter in a high-growth niche: Sports fashion for functional training & movement

Established brand & e-commerce infrastructure: Online store, customer base, production & logistics partnerships in place

Flexible acquisition options: Up to 80% of shares available – structured transition with founder support

Scalability: Growth opportunities through market expansion, product line extension & new distribution channels
