Metalworking

For a newly developed fitness training device with high market potential, we are looking for a committed business partner (m/f/d) who would like to contribute his strengths in the area of sales and market development.

The product is fully developed, patented and already produced in small series. The first distribution channels are available, as well as a professional online presence. Now the next phase of growth is to start – together.

We are looking for:

A sales-strong, entrepreneurially minded personality with experience in direct sales, e-commerce, B2B or similar areas.

Ideally, you have initiative, a hands-on mentality and a feel for target groups and markets.
