For sale is an established and profitable cleaning company in Austria with a stable order situation and long-standing customer relationships.

The company generates annual sales of around € 1.2 million with an EBIT of around € 250,000. The high proportion of recurring revenues ensures very good predictability and stability.

The operational structure is clearly organised: a well-rehearsed team of around 10-13 employees and an existing operational management level enable a largely independent operation without the active involvement of the owner.
