Coffee roastery

Established coffee roasting company in the Canary Islands is looking for a suitable successor or strategic buyer as part of a company succession.

The company has been active on the market for several years and has a grown customer structure in retail, gastronomy and the B2B sector. The business includes an established coffee brand, existing supplier and customer relationships, production equipment, recipes, packaging concepts and a well-rehearsed operational process.

Ideally, we are looking for a person or company with an interest in high-quality coffee, brand building, food production and distribution. A continuation of the existing business operations is expressly desired. The takeover of existing employees can be part of the succession solution.
