Look for Corporate follow-up, firm follow-up, follow-up Transport and logistics

"I'm not looking for a company to carry a title. I am looking for a company for which I can take responsibility and shape a successful future together with the people in it."

This sentence best describes who I am and why I want to take over a company.

I'm not looking for a position or status. I am looking for a task with responsibility. I am aware that behind every company there is a lot of work, courage and often an entire life's work. This is precisely why I treat corporate succession with great respect.

I don't have any experience as a managing director yet. I don't hide that. Instead, I bring something with me that cannot be measured in certificates or CVs: honesty, reliability, perseverance and the firm will to learn something new every day.
